LECTURE ON JAPAN.

Description of Habits and Customs of the People.

Prof. Alexander Graham Bell delivered a ecture or Japan before the National Geographic Society at the Congregational Church last evening. Prof. Bell visited Japan last fall and spent two months there. The lecture was illustrated with views tak en by him during his trip. Yokohama, Tokio, Nikko and other places were interestingly described. Prof. Bell commented especially upon the absence of animal life in Japan. There were, he said, no horses nor cows, and the only sheep that he saw were in the zoological gardens, where they were looked upon as great curlosities. The absence of almost every kind of animal had a peculiar result upon the agricultural country and the character of food found in Japan. There were no fields of hay, nor were the many grains raised in other countries found, except in small quantities, the natives subjecting almost antirely types rice. tives subsisting almost entirely upon rice shrimps, and sliced raw fish. bread, drinking water, salt and other com-mon articles of the table found in most lands were absent from the tray upon which the Japanese meals were served.

He commended many customs he found in Japan. He thought their permanent census system, by which the population is given each year, is worthy to be copied by this country, as is also the plan of the National University of Japan. Any young man who can pass the entrance examina tion can secure a loan sufficient to carry him through the university. to the trees planted by Gen. and Mrs Grant in Nagasaki Park, in 1879, and said the one planted by Gen. ATTENDED BY THOUSANDS Joint Meeting of Two Local Lodges Public School Pupils, and Others Honor Memory of Prof Montgomery.

> Addresses by Several Ministers at Funeral Services Floral Offerings Numerous-Resolutions Adopted.

A very unusual spectacle was presented in the Metropolitan A.M. E. Church, on M street northwest, yesterday afternoon when a thousand pupils of the public schools, 300 teachers and hundreds of others assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to the mortal remains of Henry Percival Montgomery, late supervising principal of the minth division of public schools. A vast throng without was unable to gain ccess to the building. Badges of mourn ing were worn by pupils and teachers, and the personal regard of more than half of the audience for the deceased was very marked. Mr. Montgomery had continuous-ly since 1876 been a most important figure in the colored subselled this site, a pioneer in the colored schools of this city, a pioneer male principal and pioneer supervisor.

Former Superintendent J. Ormond son, who brought Mr. Montgomery from Vermont, appeared with the family as a mourner. Superintendent Powell and his eight supervisors attended in a body, and were seated next to the honorary pall-

The remains lay in state from 12 to 2 o'clock, the hour for the religious exercises, which were under the general direction of Rev. J. Albert Johnson, the pastor. The music was by the church choir, under the direction of Prof. J. T. Layton. The program was: Music, "It Is Well With My Soul;" prayer, Rev. W. H. Brooks; solo, "Come Unto Me," Prof. Layton; Scripture reading, Rev. F. J. Grimke; reading of resolutions by the familiar of the High School lutions by the faculty of the High School, ninth, tenth and eleventh divisions; ad-dresses; music, "Lead, Kindly Light."

The principal address was by the pastor. He spoke especially as a personal friend, familiar with the religious convictions and possessing the confidence of Mr. Montgom-ery, who was, he said, more than an educator and thoroughly consecrated to his work. Rev. Brooks, who followed, spoke as a parent, the love of whose children for their supervisor had deepened his own attachment for the deceased, and Rev. F. J Grimke, who had united him in holy matrimony and served as his school trustee about ten years ago, dwelt on the features of his character as exemplified in the administration of Mr. Montgomery as supervisor.

Rev. Wm. Bradford of Manassas, whose acquaintance with Mr. Montgomery extended back to the stirring times of the civil war, spoke the final words, commending the monumental work of Mr. Montgomery as the promoter of the Manassas school. The honorary pallbearers were Superintendent G. F. T. Cook, Dr. John R. Francis, Leonard C. Bailey, W. Wallace McCary, Thomas S. Lovett, Ellis W. Brown, Thomas H. Wright and P. A. Williams. The service of active pallbearers was per-formed by janitors of the public schools of the ninth division, as follows: James L. Mathews (Stevens), Philip Gaines (Sumner), Eugene Wright (Wormley), James C. Jackson (Magruder), Maurice W. Dean (Briggs), Norvill J. Johnson (Garrison), Charles Mathews (Minor) and Jefferson Thomas of the Cook school, tenth division of which Mr. Montgomery was principal prior to his promotion to the supervisor-

The funeral arrangements at the church were under the direction of Mr. Thomas H. Wright, the superintendent of the church and the school trustee for the division of which Mr. Montgomery was supervising principal, assisted by J. W. Cromwell and E. H. Hunter, church trustees. A detachment of thirty of the High School Cadets, under the command of Major Leon Turner, jr., acted as ushers.

Numerous Floral Offerings.

The floral offerings were beautiful, tasteful and numerous. Supt. Powell and the supervisors of the first eight divisions sent welcome to Mr. Duffey and his family were a large bouquet of white lilies, entwined with purple ribbon; Supt. Cook, a flat bouth of the official board; Rey. F. A. Stier for the teachers of the ninth division and teachers of the Manual Training School, a wheel with broken speke in white and violet, mounted on an easel; Sumner School, Mr. Montgomery's late official headquarters, sent a cross and crown; Stevens, a mount-Pollard and Mr. L. Green. On behalf of the ladies of the church Mr. Stier present-column; Manassas Industrial School, of which the deceased was one of the leading promoters and first principal, a wreath of autumn leaves and white roses; Mrs. M. E. Tucker and daughter, callas; Mrs. Hamilton S. Smith, cross of roses, white lilacs and lilies. Flat bouquets were sent, respectively, by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris, directors of the Manassas Industrial School, and the pupils of the Training School of the ninth, tenth and eleventh divisions; pillows were sent by Supervising Principal Brown and by Misses Sarah C. Lewis, Carrie E. Thomas and Mr. Jefferson Thomas of the Cook School, from the prin-cipalship of which Mr. Montgomery was made supervisor, seventeen years ago.

The interment was made at Woodlawn cemetery.

Tribute of Respect. The teachers of the ninth division, at a meeting held previous to the funeral, passed resolutions expressive of their deep sense of loss in the death of Mr. Montgomery, and stating that: "We have always found our late supervisor, in our official relations, deeply devoted to the welfare and interest of the schools; profoundly impressed with the importance and responsibility of the trust committed to his care, discharging his duties in the most conscientious and painstaking manner. While firm and courteous in the discharge of his official duties, he most feet duty her manufacted with the most considerable most consider he manifested such an interest and sym pathy in the personal welfare and advance-ment of his teachers as to win their grat-itude and affection, and was greatly beloved by them."

It was directed that a copy of the resolu-tions be forwarded to the family of the deceased. Similar resolutions were adopted by faculty of the High Schools of the ninth, tenth and eleventh divisions. Reference was made to his unfalling interest in his pupils, which had gained the high regard of par-ents and the confidence of the community. These resolutions were signed by James Stoum, Laura F. Barney, A. J. Cooper and Walt. B. Hayson.

The work on the model was done by E. Garet, the sculptor, of 1720 G street north-west, from the drawings of William J. Marsh and Walter G. Peter, associate architects. It is complete so far as the ex-terior view of the new building is concerned, with the exception that the bronze railing and ornaments to mark the finished build ing do not appear in the model. An excel lent idea of The Star's building is con-veyed, however, the sculptor having been faithful to the plans in every line of his work. The many points of strength and beauty of construction in the building are displayed. The model stands nearly four feet in heighth and is in width and length in proportion. The plaster modeling, of brilliant whiteness, is mounted upon a slab of marble and rests upon a pedasta draped in dull green. The entire window is fitted in plush of the same color, and the effect is decidedly attractive. The style of architecture selected for the new building and shown to such advantage in the model has been the subject of th hightest praise. All who have seen the model agree that the building will not alone be one of the handsomest in this city of grand governmental structures, but surpass in nearly every respect any building of a private corporation south of New

The building will be the finest and most complete of its size that can be devised by the brainest architects and authorities on modern construction America boasts. As the model illustrates, the style of architecture is of the French renalssance school In some of the forms of this class the tendercy is to what might be termed over ornamentation, but in this instance such letails have been kept in proper subordina tion and are employed only where they will exrich and free the masses of the walls from a monotonous effect of unrelieved paces. The white model was rightly hosen, for the building will be constructed spaces. argely of carefully selected marble. The model will remain on exhibition for some time, and will be a source of interest o all Washington. This has already been

Annual Excursion. The well known German musical societies, the Arions and Saengerbunds, will give their annual outing at River View tomorrow, and the gentlemen in charge of the affair are anticipating the attendance of a large crowd of the friends of the two organizations. Every effort will be made to have all who go enjoy themselves thoroughly and in order to contribute to the pleasure of the occasion, an elaborate musical program will be rendered by a full chorus of some sixty voices, assisted by the River View orchestra, under the leadership of Prof. Chris Arth, fr. The concert music by the View band will also be a feature of the trips to the resort. Tomorrow the steamer Pentz will leave her wharf, foot of 7th street, at 10:30, 2:30 and 6 p. m., and the return trips will be made at 1, 5, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.

Thus are speedily, permanently and conom-ically cured the mest torturing, disfiguring and humiliating humors of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, when the best physicians and all other remedies fail.

Tetter on Hands Cured I etter on that tetter for several years, at times my hands would be sore all over, so that I could not use them at all, and were so tender that clear water, even, smarted like fire, and it spread over arms, neck and face. I had been treated by physicians, but without benefit, when I began the CUTICURA remedies. I found relief before I had taken the first bottle. I used three or four bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one box of CUTICURA (olntment), and it has never troubled me since.

Everlasting Itching I have been troubled with an everlasting itching and burning of the skin on my face. I was prevailed upon to try CUTICURA remedies. The result was simply wonderful.
